

DEAR MEMBERS

The Finn-Brits Magazine did not quite make it to remind you of the forthcoming events, so this newsletter will keep you up to date.

Sat 10 November Multiculturalism and cultural Diversity in Australia
Mr. Benjamin Hayes from Oulu University will visit Kuopio and give a presentation at the City Library at 1 pm. You are welcome to join him for a late lunch at Isä Camillo Restaurant after his presentation. Some members of the Finnish-Australian Society will also be there so that we'll have a chance to get to know them as well.

On the same day, the debating semi-finals will take place at Kallaveden Lukio, Maaherrankatu 2, at 10am. There will be teams from Kuopio and Joroinen. The judges will be Bill Ansell and Paul Bailey. The procedure follows the British tradition and so is something interesting for us to hear and see.

18 November is the deadline for those who want to enjoy the traditional Christmas lunch at Isä Camillo Restaurant. Contact Kristiina Bailey by email, kristiina.bailey@honeywell.com or by phone, 0407020523, if you'd like to come along.

1 December Traditional Christmas Lunch at Isä Camillo Restaurant at 1 pm.

This is already the fifth time that Isä Camillo is serving the traditional Christmas Lunch. The menu sounds as delicious as ever:

* Cold smoked salmon with lemon cream cheese, dill oil and brown bread

* Roast turkey breast, stuffing, gravy, cranberry sauce, bacon & sausage rolls, roast potatoes, Brussels sprouts and carrots

* Christmas pudding with brandy butter

The price is 27.50 euros for adults, children half price, drinks excluded. If there are any allergies, please let Kristiina know about them and the kitchen will cater for them.

14 December at 7 pm the Festival of Nine Lessons and Christmas Carols at Männistö Old Church, Lönnrotingkatu 24. The Revd. Rupert Moreton, the Anglican Chaplain in Finland, will join the service. After the turn of the year we can look forward to John Mills telling us about football in England, which, of course, is a winter game there. Instead of a Valentine Day's party with the other friendship societies in Kuopio the Chinese New Year will be celebrated with a Chinese meal and some Chinese performers at the City Hall on 9 February . In March we can look forward to Nick Hennessey's excellent performance of the Kalevala here in Kuopio.
